BUS CRASH ON I-10

27 people from the Atlanta, Ga. area were injured at I-10 and Hwy. 603 Monday when the driver of the Haslam Coach Tours bus they were riding on apparently passed out from hypoglycemia. None were injured critically, and most have already left the hospital.

27 injured after driver passes out from low blood sugar problem

ECHO STAFF REPORT
The driver of a tour bus that crashed at I-10 and injured 27 people Monday apparently had a diabetes-induced seizure that precipitated the accident, according to the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

"There were 27 people injured on the bus, including the driver," according to a statement issued by American Medical Response Director of Operations Steve Delahousey. "19 patients were transported to Hancock Medical Center in Bay St. Louis and eight patients were transported to Northshore Medical Center in Slidell.

"Of the 27 people injured, 24 appeared to have minor injuries and three appeared to have moderate to serious injuries. There were no critically injured patients."

All of the patients were transported by AMR ambulances.

Former Bay cop dies from gunshot

Police say 'no foul play' was involved

BY GEOFF BELCHER
News Editor

Investigators are still piecing together what happened on Monday - Memorial Day - when former Bay St. Louis police officer Wilbert "Bro" Dorsey Sr., 71, died at his home from an apparent self-inflicted gunshot wound, investigators say.

According to available evidence, Bay Police Chief Frank McNeil said yesterday, "No foul play was involved," but family members have said Dorsey was cleaning a weapon when it accidentally went off.

Hancock County Norma Stiglet said yesterday that no exact determination could be made before officers completed their investigation into the incident.

Dorsey - known to many in Bay St. Louis as "the concrete man," - had been a Bay policeman for nearly two decades before leaving the force around 1991 to devote himself full-time to his concrete business.

"This department is shocked and saddened," McNeil said. "He'll be missed by the people around here who were his friends and co-workers, and the people who used to be his fellow police officers."

Dorsey was also a veteran of the U.S. Army.

Survivors include his wife, Jean M. Simms Dorsey; four daughters, Madeline Sneed of Washington, D.C., Melissa Dedaux of Pass Christian, Michele Tillison of Pearl River, La., Tina Dorsey of Bay St. Louis; three sons, Gary Dorsey of Atlanta, Ga., Wilbert J.

Water may still be contaminated at Clermont, Jourdan River areas

BY ED LEPOMA
Staff Writer

Boil water notices remain in effect for residents of Clermont Harbor and Jourdan River Shores until further notice.

Steve Jones, spokesman for Total Environmental Solutions, Inc., (TESI) which recently took over some water distribution and sewerage treatment plants formerly owned by Johnson Utilities, said because of the recent Memorial Day weekend, sample results won't be forthcoming from the testing lab in Jackson until at least Friday.

"We sent the first samples today

(Tuesday) and should get results back Thursday, then we'll send another sample Wednesday, and should get those back on Friday," said Jones.

In the meantime, he urged all water customers to heed to the boil water notice posted throughout the areas.

Jones said residents will be advised when the advisory has been lifted.

The first notice was issued last Thursday for customers in Clermont Harbor.

Jones said the system lost pressure during equipment failure.

Wastewater panel wades through murky future

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

With work on Phase I of the eight-phase county wastewater treatment system about to begin, the board members of Southern Regional Wastewater Management District met in a workshop Tuesday with representatives of the Mississippi Development Bank to go over financing options and discuss concerns over the project.

Board member Gerald Gex expressed disappointment in the lack of possibilities for grant funds thus far.

"I have heard about possible grants, but so far I have seen nothing. You can't reduce the debt with grants in the works," Gex said. "I don't want to hit people with an increase in their sewer bill."

Consultant Gary Beard said a $5/45 matched grant from Mississippi Rural Development is expected to be available sometime this summer and could give the district up to an additional $7.5 million.

Board attorney Lucien Gex said the district faces some serious decisions over the coming months.

"As I see it, there is only one grant possibility pending and we should know about it in the next 90 days ... We must decide if we would want to issue bonds if we don't (see the grant come through), to fund spray irrigation fields," said Gex. "There has been a lot of romantic talk, but so far we have no other real options on grants at present ... we must decide if we are going to get out of the bayou (Edward's Bayou) or stay there till they kick us out."

One of the next phases of the project will seek to switch the county to a spray irrigation system for treated wastewater disposal. At present, treated wastewater goes into Edward's Bayou, but it is expected that new EPA guidelines for TMDLs (Total Maximum Daily Loads) will make this practice prohibitive in the near future. Everyone present agree that switching to a spray irrigation system for county wastewater should be a top priority.

In other business: The board touched on the subject of cost sharing agreements with other entities such as Pearllington, Kiln, Hancock County Port and Harbor, and the need to make sure that everyone involved was clear about their responsibilities for sharing the costs of the project. The board requested that this be discussed at the next regular meeting on June 12.

Summer school set at Bay High

Bay High School will be hosting summer school. Registration is Monday, June 11. Classes will begin Tuesday, June 12 and end Friday, July 20. July 4 is a holiday. Instructional time is five hours per day for 28 days.

Classes are 7:15 a.m.-12:30 p.m. with a break from 10:15 to 10:30 a.m.

Cost is $165 per full credit course.

Classes offered are English I, English II, Pre-Algebra and Algebra I if a minimum of 20 students enroll.

Bay High School students will be given preference, and then students from other schools will be given an opportunity to register.

No half credit courses will be offered. Total balance is due at registration. In order to attend BHS Summer School, out-of-district students must present a letter from their home school indicating the course that they need to take, signed by the principal.

For information, call 467-6611 or 467-5297.

Report cards may be picked up Friday, June 8 at noon.

Get a free boat safety check June 2

Is your boat equipped for a safe summer boating season?

BoatUS and the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary are making it easy to find out by offering free boat safety checks on Saturday, June 2 at most BoatUS Marine Centers around the U.S.

Further, if you require life jackets, flares or other safety-related items, you can purchase them while you're there at a discount after the check is completed.

The Vessel Safety Check program is a joint effort of the BoatUS, U.S. Power Squadrons and U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary to verify the presence and operable condition of certain safety equipment required by state and federal regulations.

Trained, certified examiners will also answer any questions you may have about safe boating and local educational programs.

Most trailerable boats, which can be brought to the participating BoatUS Marine Centers, can be checked in minutes.

All boaters will receive an evaluation form, and boats that meet safety requirements will receive a Vessel Safety Check decal.

If replacement or additional safety items are needed to successfully meet the requirements, they can be purchased at a discount at any BoatUS Marine Center by showing the VSC form.

If your boat is in the water, a Vessel Safety Check can be arranged by appointment.

For more information about the VSC program, contact the BoatUS Marine Center nearest you or go online to www.BoatUS.com to get a list of all participating stores.

For a preview of the safety requirements, visit the official Vessel Safety Check web site at www.national-vsc-day.org.

BoatUS also offers a free online safety course taken by more than 150,000 boaters at BoatUS.com.

For a limited time, everyone completing the course will be automatically entered into a drawing for various prizes, including a JRC radio or inflatable life jackets.

With more than 530,000 members, BoatUS is the world's largest organization of recreational boaters.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

The small amount of rain which fell on Monday was much needed in the area.

Unless more rain comes soon we will once again lose some of our old trees as well as young ones around the area.

Last year's drought took a toll on many trees, shrubs and lawns, and it appears the same thing is happening this year, only earlier in the year.

By the time you read this, I am hoping we have some rain to help keep our area green.

We are still under a burn ban in Hancock County, and this means no burning even in barrels, according to Fire Marshal Richard Pate.

As dry as it is now, it really does not take much for a fire to get out of control.

As a youngster, my brothers and I fought many woods fires in our Waveland neighborhood. It is sure a bad feeling when your home is threatened by a fire.

I can recall a fire in a vacant lot next to our home that blistered the paint on our house's siding. All we had to use were water hoses on low pressure lines, shovels and pine tops to try and stop wild fires.

One must remember Waveland did not have a fire department at that time, not even a volunteer one. My youngest brother Felton and I were members of Waveland's Volunteer Fire Department in the 1950's when it got started.

I urge everyone to please be extremely careful, and if you smoke, make sure you do not toss lit cigarettes from your vehicles. As we did in the military, field strip them.

The bells of regular school sessions will be quelled in a few days for a couple of months, and youngsters will be about the area doing many summer projects.

Some of the older students will have summer jobs, and this is very good training for a young person. Work experience is very important for survival in today's world.

I well remember my part-time job of three years while I was in high school and how it prepared me for the 'real' world. Of course, I never realized it then as I do now.

In our area we have all types of activities for the younger boys and girls such as T-ball, Little League, Softball Leagues, and many other activities to keep them busy during the summer months.

Many families are planning summer vacations, and that is very good too. Some of my summer vacations were spent at my aunt's at Rigolets in the marsh.

I am hoping that each and everyone will have a great summer, no matter what you do, and for students to stay in school, as a good education is of prime importance today.

Talking about education, 'hats are off' to one of our premier Kindergarten teachers, Mrs. Olive (Miss Ollie) McKenna, who at the age of 82 received her master's of arts degree from William Carey College.

Miss Ollie has been teaching for 49 years and has signed a contract for the coming session at Waveland Elementary School.

She gives that little extra to Kindergarten students, whom she has been teaching for the past 29 years. Her first 20 years was teaching first graders.

On numerous occasions I have seen Miss Ollie at work in class, and she just blends right in with her students who are so eager to learn.

Keep up your good work, Miss Ollie, and congratulations again on your master's degree.

QUOTES -- PAGE 5A

Southern boy in the Big Apple

For the past 20 years, I've had the honor of serving on the 30-member board of the Washington-based Reporters' Committee for Freedom of the Press, the leading national voice in defense of a free press. Rarely, however, have I been able to go North and attend board meetings.

This was one time this reporter, a sort of poor country cousin on a committee that includes a number of nationally-known luminaries in journalism, was determined to be among those present.

Especially, because it was the organization's 30th anniversary and, besides a board meeting, the occasion was to be celebrated here in the Big Apple with a celebrity-packed fund-raising gala.

A gala it was indeed. For this old Southern boy it was mighty heavy stuff.

What else can you say about a dinner program that included Dan Rather, Peter Jennings and Tom Brokaw - the Big Three TV news anchors - who for one night forgot about their ratings rat-race and even said some nice things about each other.

The honoree of the evening, however, was Katherine Graham, of the Washington Post, who as the newspaper's publisher when the Post unraveled the Watergate story has become a journalistic icon.

When Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein gathered their earth-shaking Watergate stories that eventually brought down a president, she steadfastly stood behind them even when other news organizations wouldn't touch the story.

Fittingly, Ms. Graham, frail and obviously battling health problems, was presented by Ben Bradlee, the legendary Post managing editor, who directed the Watergate coverage (and who knows who 'Deep Throat' is).

Remember, ours is a reporters' organization, formed by and run by reporters, not editors or publishers. So when we did Ms. Graham that's something of a milestone in American journalism.

All three of the TV anchor stars had vied for the opportunity to have the fun of introducing the guest speaker, noted humorist/journalist Calvin Trillin.

Brokaw, having known the droll, dead-pan, balding Trillin longest, won out.

Probably I had known Bud Trillin longer than any of the three, having met and befriended him in the early 1960s when, as a young reporter for Time Magazine, right out of Yale, he was sent to cover the South. But this night we needed celebs on stage, not me.

Bud was a funny man back then, I remember. He is even funnier now - both in print, and from time to time on network TV (he was a favorite guest of Johnny Carson) and gets paid well for his humor.

From Time Magazine, Trillin had gone on to The New Yorker where for about 20 years he wandered around the country, talking to people and writing absolutely side-splitting humor about what he saw and learned on the way.

In his banquet talk here the other night, he told us how he and Jules Loh, the long-time feature writer who also roved the country and wrote humor for the Associated Press, had created the American Association of American Journalists Covering America, or AJCA for short.

"The membership was limited," Trillin declared, adding, "In fact, Jules and I were the only members." A basic rule of AJCA, he said, was never to quote de Tocqueville.

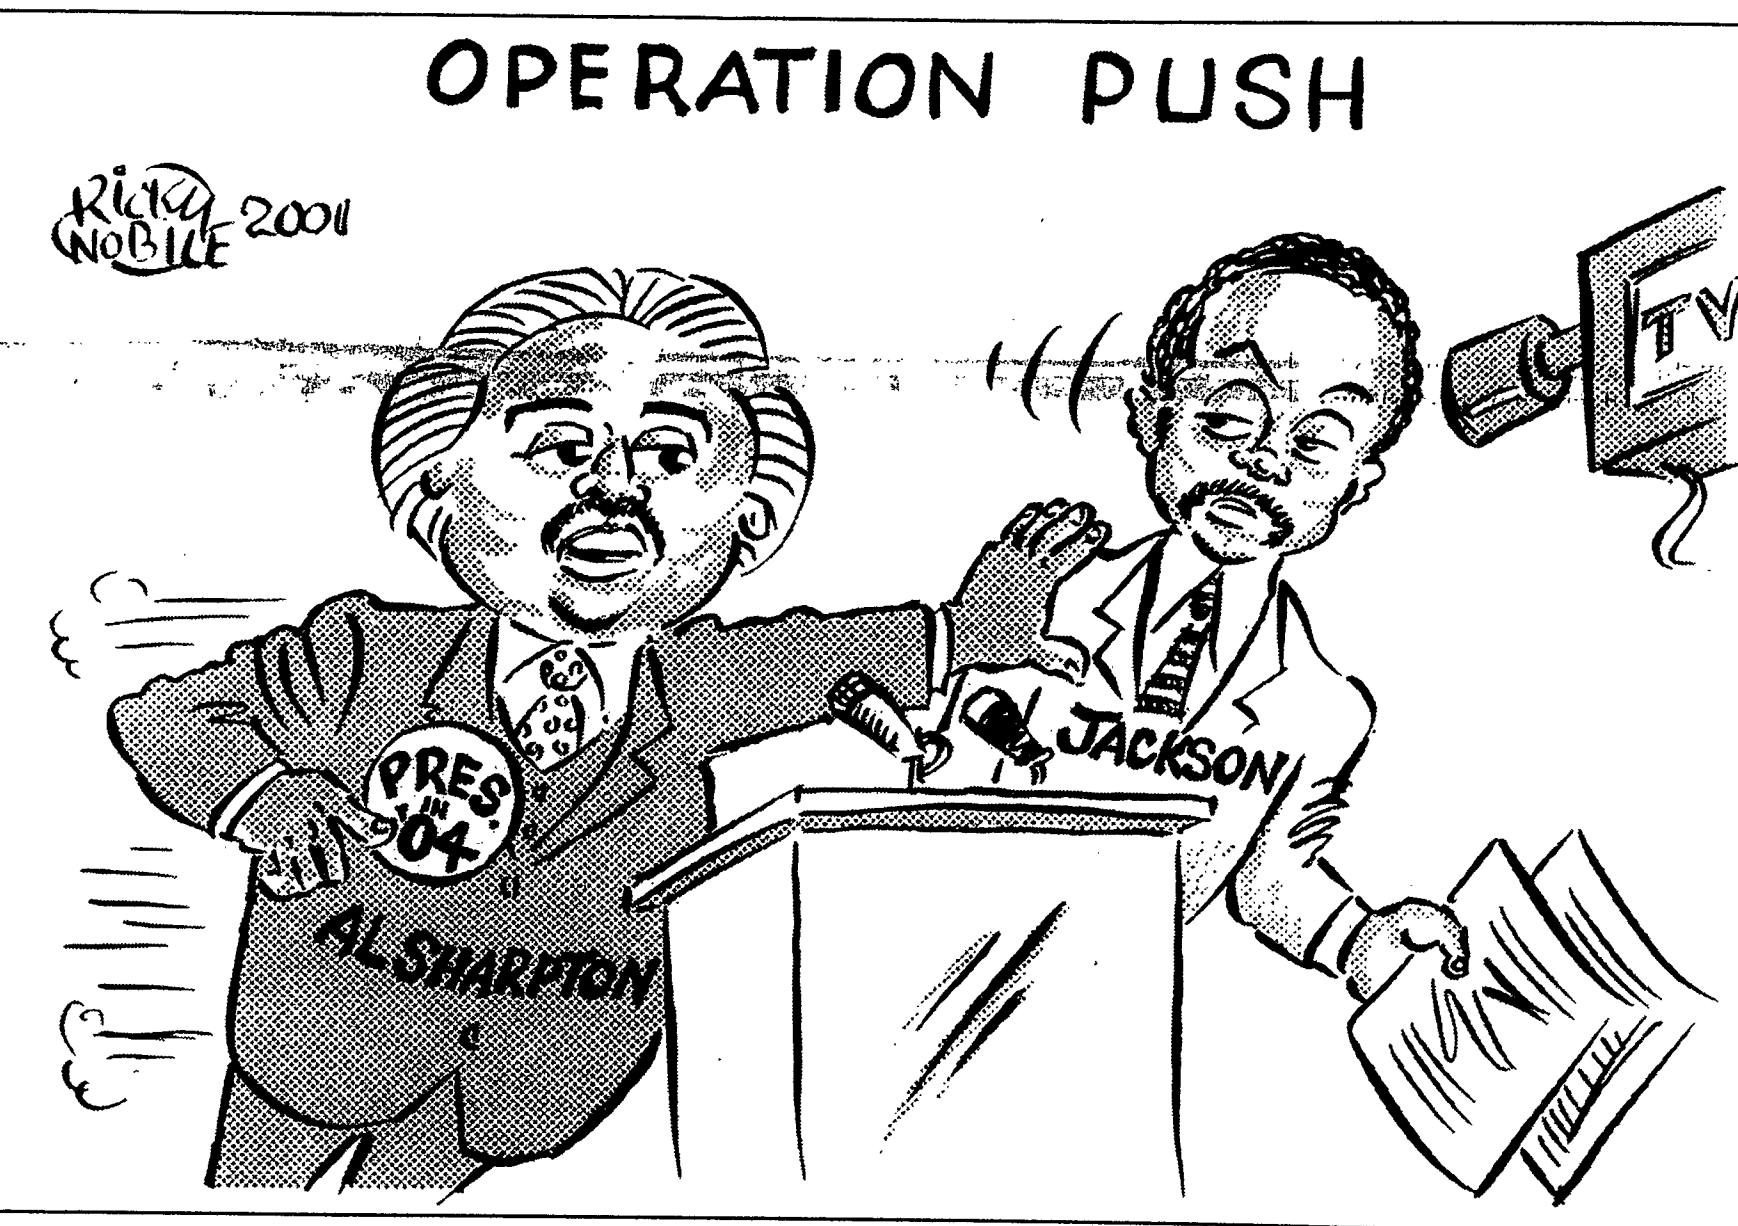

Once AJCA decided to present an award for outstanding work, Trillin said, "I hated to tell Jules he was rejected for the award," Trillin continued. Loh

D'head parade draws attention to veterans

To the Editor:

I would like to commend the individuals who conceived and executed the recent Memorial Day parade and celebration in Diamondhead.

It is difficult to interest people in events that are both reflective in nature and "fun." This event was both.

The Hancock High School Band played very well, plenty of food and cold drinks were available, the parade was really great with red white and blue everywhere, and the location was shady and spacious. That was the fun side.

On the reflective side, the guest speakers were eloquent; reminding us that most of our wars were fought by our young ... children really... when you measure what a full life should be.

Events such as this transport wars and police actions and loss from the safe media of film and video tape into the flesh and blood world of brothers who didn't come home, fathers who never got to see their children grow up, young women who would never wear a wedding dress or start their first job.

Like countless of other sailors at sea, I used to lean over the rail of my ship and wonder if anyone beside my immediate family cared about "us out here" or about what we were doing or how long the days were.

After I retired, I found the answer. The hard truth is that the vast majority of citizens do not think about the soldiers, sailors and airmen who are serving our interest around the globe ... unless it is a family member.

Therefore, as difficult as it may be for some to view Memorial Day as anything but a three-day weekend and a time for sales ... I pray the sponsors of the Diamondhead event make this an annual rite; a time where we can be reminded that at the least it is good manners to say thank you to those who laid down their lives, who stood willing to lay down their lives, and who are still standing in harm's way on our behalf today.

Taylor named 'Treasury Guardian' by budget watchdog group

A national budget watchdog group Wednesday recognized Representative Gene Taylor as a "Treasury Guardian" for his fiscally responsible voting record in Congress last year.

"In a year defined by election-year pork promises and partisan gridlock, too few members of Congress had the courage to stand up for the taxpayer and cast fiscally responsible votes last year," said Jill Lancelot, legislative director for Taxpayers for Common Sense Action, the budget watchdog group who released the report.

"The people of Mississippi should be proud of Rep. Taylor's common sense efforts in Congress."

The announcement coincides with the release of Taxpayers for Common Sense Action (TCS Action's) latest Common Sense Taxpayer Scorecard. The scorecard, which is available online at www.taxpayer.net, tallies dozens of votes aimed at promoting sound fiscal policy, and cutting wasteful government spending and subsidies.

The votes cover a broad variety of categories, including agriculture, budget, international, military, public lands, public works, and taxes.

TCS Action's scorecard recognizes 57 senators and members of Congress as Treasury Guardians, a special distinction awarded to lawmakers who scores in the top 10 percent of their respective chambers by casting fiscally responsible votes. "There are some exceptional senators and members of Congress from both political parties looking out for the American taxpayers' money," said Lancelot. "Unfortunately, in 2000, politics too often trumped common sense when it came to spending tax dollars wisely." Congress exceeded spending limits mandated by the 1997 Balanced Budget Act by $50 billion in the FY 2000 budget, according to the group. For FY 2001, lawmakers have spent $100 billion dollars more than is allowed by the law.

"Congress has two very distinct choices," continued Lancelot. "It can either continue down the usual path of wasteful spending, banking on surpluses that may never appear, or it can get serious about balancing its books."

The report also contends that lawmakers used budget gimmicks to evade the caps, often slipping nonessential spending into emergency spending bills.

In one example, Congress approved $45 million for a personal jet for the Coast Guard's Commandant. Another tactic cited by the group was to hide the full cost of proposals by moving the cost beyond the 10-year budget horizon. "The budget surplus projections that are being used to justify this spending aren't set in stone," concluded Lancelot. "A minor decrease in economic growth or increase in government spending will have a major impact on the surplus projections that lawmakers have counted on to bankroll their reckless spending."

Fishing Rodeo June 29-July 4.

This is a great honor for Mayor Favre, who recently was elected to his fourth term as Bay St. Louis mayor.

The fishing rodeo, which is a three-county event, will be headquartered at the Rice Pavilion in Gulfport and is a big tourist attraction.

The Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo is billed as one of the largest in the world and this year will be over a six-day period.

Fishermen come from many parts of the country for this rodeo, and one of the good things is that one only has to fill out a free entry to participate in the competition.

We will be giving you more information about the Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo as the time nears.

asked why.

"Because you were once caught quoting the Tocqueville." Bud added with a mock-serious face.

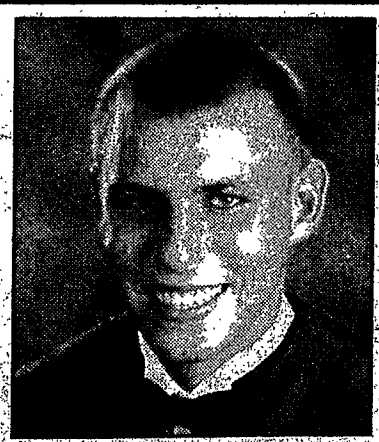

Of course, the work of the Reporters' Committee is a lot more serious than staging galas in the Big Apple.

Since it was created in 1970 by a group of reporters, among them my old friend, ex-Biloxian Jack Nelson, former Washington Bureau chief for the Los Angeles Times, the committee has played an important role in every significant press freedom case that has reached the U.S. Supreme Court.

Additionally it has come to the defense of dozens of reporters in federal and state courts, always providing legal assistance without charge. It has emerged as a major national resource in free speech issues, providing a wide variety of materials valuable to working journalists.

But to operate effectively and maintain a sizable legal staff requires financial help. Hence, the gala had such news organizations as CNN, NBC and ABC buying a $25,000 table at the banquet.

Somehow, since Jack Nelson got me elected to the Reporters Committee board in the early 1980s, they have re-elected me, the only member from this part of the country. I guess they need a sort-of Deep South outpost.

Congratulations & Happy 18th Birthday!

Parent luncheon

Saint Paul Catholic School in Pass Christian held a second grade parent luncheon April 10 in the cafeteria. St. Paul frequently has these luncheons for parents to update them on what their children are currently learning in the classroom. The cafeteria is decorated with work the students are doing. After the parents have lunch with their children they are able to walk around and view displays of the students' work. Cecilia Walker, St. Paul's second grade teacher, was able to sit with the parents having lunch and discuss with them what she is teaching in her class. St. Paul feels that these luncheons are an important way to keep parents involved in what is going on at the school and what their children are learning.

Mississippi College orientation sessions

Mississippi College welcomes its new students to campus in July for orientation.

Transfers are invited July 6-7, and Freshmen July 13-14, to meet with advisors, register for classes, spend the night on campus, and learn more about the social, spiritual, and academic activities available at MC.

After a complete application is made to the college, students will receive a reservation packet, which must be returned by June 27 for transfers, and June 29 for freshmen, in order to attend the event. For those new students whose schedules prevent them from attending on these dates, another orientation will be held on August 27 before returning students arrive back on campus.

Chad Phillips, director of admissions, said "Orientation at MC is a great opportunity for all new students to have the opportunity to be advised by a faculty member, register for fall classes, and learn important information about coming to Mississippi College."

If you would like to learn more about orientation, contact Chad Phillips, Director of Admissions, Post Office Box 4026, Clinton, MS 39058; E-mail: admissions@mc.edu; or phone: 601.925.3800 or 800.738.1236.

Telescope donation

Petty Officer Second Class Jason Ruddell, son of Diane and Eric Rose of Diamondhead, recently donated a Tasco telescope with an approximate value of $100 to the Hancock High School Astronomy Club.

Ben Ross, Jason's brother, presented the telescope to Astronomy Club sponsor Desiree Kelley during a recent meeting.

Ruddell learned that his brother was in the club and said, "On board the ship there is very little personal space to keep things. My telescope isn't doing me any good in the box at home, so please donate it to the Astronomy Club for their enjoyment."

After graduating from Hancock High in 1995, Jason Ruddell joined the U.S. Navy and is currently stationed aboard the aircraft carrier USS Constellation as an aviation ordnanceman. Presently at sea, the Constellation's home port is San Diego, Calif.

Shrimp season opens June 5

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources (DMR) has approved the opening of Mississippi territorial waters, establishing the opening of shrimp season on Tuesday, June 5 at 6 a.m. This opening date coincides with the opening of shrimp season in Alabama.

Certain areas may be closed to shrimping activity if sampling indicates that a large number of small shrimp have moved into a particular area.

The legal minimum size for shrimp in Mississippi is 68 shrimp per pound, and this minimum average size is used as a standard for which the opening date is determined.

All regulations set forth in ordinances of the DMR are to be in full force and effect, and all boats engaged in catching or transporting shrimp in or from the waters of Mississippi must be legally licensed.

ers received word about the accident at about 11:36 a.m. Monday.

"Once emergency officials arrived," he said, "it was determined that the tour bus was the only vehicle involved. It had left the roadway while attempting to enter the I-10 on-ramp from Hwy. 603. The bus sustained moderate damage after going through a ditch and came to rest on the shoulder of the road, but it did not roll over."

Sgt. Joe Gazzo, MHP information officer, said that no charges have been filed against the driver, Atlanta-resident James Young, 63. Young was suffering from hypoglycemic shock when he was taken to Northshore Medical Center following the accident.

Most of the passengers on the bus were from the Atlanta area, Gazzo said, and were returning home on the Haslam Coach Tours bus after a junket at Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis.

Delahousey said that about 15 passengers were uninjured, and Casino Magic sent two shuttle buses to help them get out of the heat and transport them and their belongings back to the casino hotel in order to make other arrangements.

Janet McQueen, director of marketing and public relations for Hancock Medical Center, said yesterday that only one of the patients taken to HMC remains hospitalized. She is in fair condition.

Water

The second boil water notice was issued Friday morning for customers in the Jourdan River Shores subdivision off State Hwy. 603.

Jones said the motor to the water well burned up, and crews swapped out a motor last week, then sent that motor to be rewound, and were placing it back in service on Tuesday.

Last November, TESI signed an agreement with the state Department of Environmental Quality to fix problems in the Clermont Harbor and Jourdan River Shores systems, and in other utilities it operates in Hancock and Harrison Counties, and in other parts of Mississippi.

The DEQ ordered deficiencies in Clermont Harbor to be corrected within 12 months, and said no new customers should be added to the system in the interim.

In the agreement, DEQ did not cite deficiencies in the Jourdan River Shores water distribution system, but because of problems with its sewerage treatment system, DEQ recommended that no new building permits be issued for the subdivision.

Down-to-Earth author offers pearls of wisdom with 'Pearl'

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Anyone who got the chance to strike up a conversation at last Thursday's book signing for best-selling author Melinda Haynes, was treated to a breath of fresh air by the unassuming, petite and fragile woman.

Haynes, whose first novel, Mother of Pearl, has sold 1.3 million copies, and was chosen for Oprah Winfrey's book club, exudes the sensitivity and honesty that is so apparent in her work. Haynes was in town to promote her newest novel, Chalktown.

"So far, everything I write about takes place in a 100 mile radius from where I was born, in Hattiesburg," said Haynes. "It's what I know."

Haynes didn't always have an interest in writing. She worked as a painter of commissioned portraits for 20 years in the Mobile area. She worked in water colors, pastels, and oils.

"At first I enjoyed the painting," said Haynes. "But in the end, it became a job just to the pay the bills and I just couldn't do it anymore."

At the same time that Haynes painting career ended, so did her first marriage of 20 years, leaving her financially devastated. She went to work for the Catholic Diocese in Mobile and stayed at the job for eight years. "I didn't think at the time that I would ever do anything creative again," said Haynes.

But the job took her to Kingston, Jamaica to cover a story for a Diocese publication, and suddenly Haynes knew she wanted to write. During those years she also met her present husband Ray, who supported her interest.

Best selling author Melinda Haynes and her traveling companion, Pax visited Bay St. Louis this week for a book signing at Bookends Bookstore.

"Actually, Mother of Pearl started out to be a Christmas present for Ray and nothing more," said Haynes. "He had these wonderful, strong qualities, and I put those in my main character, though Ray is white and my main character is black."

Ray was soon reading each chapter as it was completed, Haynes said, and is the one responsible for sending the final copy to a literary agent in New York. The rest is history.

Haynes said that the sudden success has been a very positive influence in the couple's life, but that they shy away from too much excitement.

"We like to live a very simple life," she said. "I write in my home and I'm finding I really need a routine in my life of getting up, having coffee and writing. But I try to confine my work time to week days."

Haynes is already working on a new novel, borrowing some of the characters from Chalktown. She is also working on a screenplay for Chalktown.

Hurricane season is almost here: Get your boat ready

Hurricane season is fast approaching, and it's time to plan how to protect your boat from a storm's furies, says BoatU.S., the nation's largest association of recreational boaters.

According to Colorado State University hurricane forecaster Dr. William Gray there will be 10 named storms (average is 9.3), six hurricanes (average is 5.7) and two intense (category 3, 4 or 5) hurricanes. In 2000 there were 14 named storms.

Hurricanes can affect boats five ways. The storm surge can raise the water level far above normal high tide. Winds can range from 70 - 200 mph and, as the speed of the wind increases, the damage it causes increases at a much greater rate.

Most hurricanes bring at least 6"-12" of rain in 24 hours and often much more. Finally, hurricanes sometimes spawn tornadoes and water spouts.

Long before a hurricane approaches, boat owners can do two things to help ensure their boats get the best protection possible during a hurricane.

• First, make sure you have everything you'll need to secure your boat - extra lines, chafe protection, fenders, anchors, duct tape and port plugs. (Get extra batteries now, too - stores always seem to run out of these first.)

• Second, decide where to keep your boat in case of a hurricane and figure out how to get it there. Move your boat when a hurricane is a substantial possibility - before a hurricane "watch" is posted. Otherwise, you may find bridges locked down, your hurricane hole inaccessible or too crowded, or your marina too busy to haul your boat. If you plan to anchor your boat, remember that a seawall or sandy spit that normally protects a "snug" harbor can be washed out by the storm surge, which may be at least 10 feet high. The best anchoring is usually in sand, followed by clay, hard mud, shells, broken shells and soft mud.

After Hurricane Fran, BoatU.S. catastrophe team members estimated that as many as half of the damaged boats at marinas could have been saved by using better docklines: lines that were longer (at least as long as the boat itself), larger (for most boats, use 1/2" line for boats up to 25 feet, 5/8" line for boats 25-34 feet, and 3/4" to 1" line for larger boats), and protected by chafing (use two layers of neoprene garden hose or, in an emergency, duct tape that secures several layers of heavy canvas to the lines).

Canals, rivers and waterways can be good hurricane holes. In narrow canals, a boat should be secured in the center with several sturdy lines tied to trees and pilings on both shores. In wider canals and waterways, boats should be secured using a combination of anchors and lines tied to trees ashore. The more lines and anchors you use, the better.

Mooring in a sheltered location can be a good alternative to exposed harbors and crowded marinas. If you have any doubts about your mooring's holding power, use one or more storm anchors to augment it.

If you trailer your boat, inspect your trailer regularly to be sure it will work when you need it. You may want to move your car out of the garage and put your boat in - a boat is lighter and more vulnerable to high winds than a car.

Once you've secured your boat, strip all loose gear that creates windage: canvas covers, bimini tops, outriggers, antennas, anchors, running rigging, dinghies, etc.

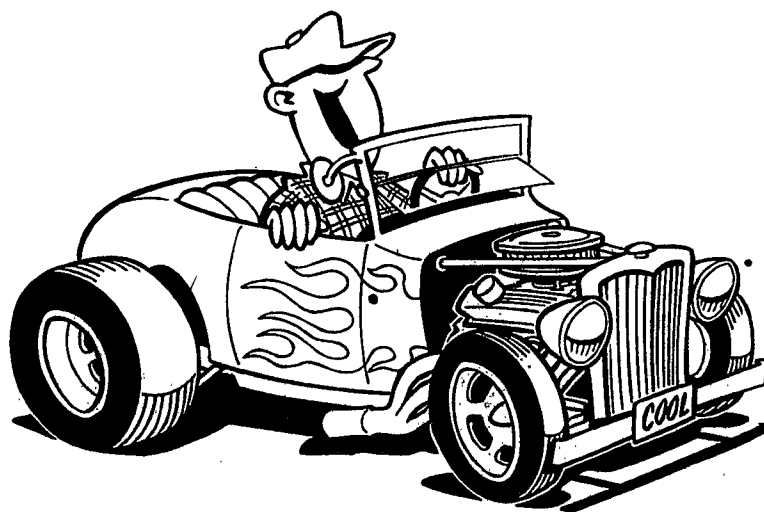

Anything on deck that can't be taken off should be lashed securely. If you can't unhstep your mast, remove sails - especially roller furling headsails.

Remove all electronics and other valuable gear - including ship's documents - from the boat. Remove cowl ventilators and seal the openings.

Use duct tape to secure instrument gauge covers and around hatches, ports, lockers, etc. to prevent water damage below. Close all but the cockpit drain seacocks and bang a plug into the engine's exhaust ports.

Above all, get off your boat. There is little, if anything, a skipper can do to save a boat in the middle of a hurricane.

"The level of competition has been friendly, with just a few close plays setting the teams apart," says League President Herb Sires. He added "the objective of the league is for the children to have fun in a controlled atmosphere using adult volunteers as the backbone for success.

"This season the volunteer support for concession, umpire and field maintenance has been outstanding, and those who have volunteered should be commended for their efforts. Our league is not geared toward babysitting the players.

The season will continue until June 22 with two more rounds of play left. After the regular season, Tournament Teams will be selected to represent the league on the road to the Little League World Series, which will be telecast on ESPN2 this year.

The league will close the season with a first class banquet sometime in August or September where all of the participants, players, volunteers and sponsors will be recognized and rewarded for their achievements.

Council sends petitioner back to the drawing board (or zoning board)

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Julie Martin was sent back to the planning and zoning board last week to revise her request to subdivide two lots on Beach Blvd. between Ballentine and Citizen Streets.

One of the lots would have a 52-foot frontage and the other lot would have a 30-foot frontage. Martin had received a recommendation from the planning and zoning board to divide the lots, and a recommendation for a variance, so that any new owners would not have to petition the board when they were ready to build. However, because of a clerical error, the variance request was not advertised in the public hearing notice. Bay St. Louis City Council members at their regular meeting last week decided that Martin should go back to the commission and redo the entire process to include the variance request officially. Before discovering the error, council members had begun approval of the division of the lots, but rescinded their motion. Martin will not be required to repay fees.

In other business: Edith Back appeared with several residents of the 300 block of Carroll Avenue to request that a four-way stop be installed at the intersection of Necaise and Carroll to replace the two way stop now at the intersection. Back said several accidents had occurred at that location and the safety of area children was a concern to the residents. Council members voted unanimously to support the request and Mayor Eddie Favre said he would take action.

Juanita Mitchell appeared to request that the council again look into a reoccurring problem concerning a city lot that backs unto her property on St. Francis Street. Mitchell said that the vibration and noise of large equipment stored and operated on the lot have caused a crack in her den wall. Mitchell asked that the city consider paying for repairs to the house. Favre said that he would look into request on Wednesday and most likely turn the matter over to the city's insurance company for investigation.

Burn ban still posted for Hancock County

BY ED LEPOMA
Staff Writer

A burn ban posted since May 15 for the unincorporated areas of Hancock County remains in effect in the face of nationwide wildfires due to droughts.

"We've had some scattered rain, but it hasn't been enough," said Fire Marshal Richard Pate.

"I'm asking everyone to continue to cooperate by not setting any fire on the ground or in outside barrels," said Pate.

Under a new law passed by the state legislature, fines ranging from $100 to $500 can be levied against anybody ignoring the burn ban.

Pate said he was hopeful rains predicted for Friday and Saturday would be long and hard enough to diminish the current dry situation.

Military Mention

Rachel Stanley

Rachel M. Stanley has joined the United States Army Reserve under the Delayed Training Program.

The program gives young men and women the opportunity to delay reporting for basic military training for up to 270 days. An enlistment in the Reserve gives many new soldiers the option to learn a new skill, serve their country, and become eligible to receive more than $7,000 toward a college education, $20,000 for repayment of college loans, and a maximum $5,000 cash bonus.

After completion of basic military training, most soldiers receive advanced individual training in their career job specialty.

Stanley, a student at Bay High School, will report to Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C., for basic training. Her guardian, Marilyn K. Timms, resides in Bay St. Louis.

Rudbeckias a must for Gulf Coast gardeners

SOUTHERN GARDENING
BY NORMAN WINTER
MSU Horticulturist
Central Mississippi
Research & Extension
Center

As you drive down Mississippi's highways and byways, don't lament that we don't fare well with blue bonnets, because this year our own wild phlox, coreopsis, Queen Anne's lace and Indian Pinks have been as pretty as a painting.

It won't be long until another of my favorite wildflowers advertises its landscape attributes to all who pass by. These are the black-eyed Susans. Their roadside performance should be a clear signal they will work in our yards, too.

Botanically speaking, black-eyed Susans are Rudbeckias. Rudbeckia hirta is native to Mississippi, and Indian Summer, a Mississippi Medallion winner, is of this variety. It was also an All-America Selections winner and recently won the Cut Flower of the Year Award by the American Specialty Cut Flower Growers Association.

Indian Summer is one gorgeous flower even if it is an annual. The plant reaches 42 inches in height and produces its heart out with large, softball-sized blooms. A mass planting of these combined with a mass of purple coneflowers will make your border look like you are the gardener of the year. Their site and care is fairly standard.

There are 30 to 40 other species of Rudbeckia native to the United States. One of my favorites is the Rudbeckia

South Dakotan on volunteer ministry through the southern U.S.

BY AMY LAGASSE

As the closing of another school year is upon us, I reflect on the people and students that have crossed my path. This year one person in particular stands out. This person is Cody Zilverberg, volunteer, teacher, and friend.

He is a member of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart sponsored New Orleans Volunteer Service Community. This organization which locates and places young people doing volunteer work throughout the South is under the direction of Brother Henry Gaither, SC.

Zilverberg, 22, was born in Gettysburg, S. D. and grew up on a ranch outside of Holabird, S. D. He is the first of three sons born to Donald and Peggy Zilverberg.

Zilverberg attended Highmore High School in South Dakota and completed his bachelor's degree in computer science from St. John's University in Collegeville, Minn. He met Brother Henry at a Volunteer Fair at St. John's, and he began as a volunteer at Saint Stanislaus in August 2000.

When I asked what first interested him in doing volunteer work, he responded, "In college I began working with Habitat for Humanity in Hartford, Connecticut, and then joined the Volunteers in Service to Others (VISTO). During spring breaks I worked at homeless shelters and soup kitchens in Washington, D.C."

I asked Zilverberg about his upbringing in South Dakota and his living in the South. "Things here and there are more similar that I would have thought," he said. "It is a slow-paced life here and very friendly, just like home."

"The main differences are in the weather. I'm not used to snow-less winters," he continued. He also said he "can't get over" how much seafood Southerners eat.

Zilverberg plans to continue his volunteer ministry, and he has committed to do volunteer work the next two years in Central America with the Volunteer Missionary Movement. While there, he hopes to get into a career of teaching, working with inner-

1961: Pseudo-Nazis cruise through Hancock County in 'Hate Bus'

TEN YEARS AGO

May 23, 1981 - Beginning June 1, the U.S. Postal Service will officially recognize the Diamondhead community as separate from Bay St. Louis, U.S. Senator Trent Lott said recently. "We have been working for months now to have Diamondhead recognized as a separate community. Under this new plan, Diamondhead residents will be able to receive mail with a Diamondhead address," Lott said.

- The corn may be as "high as an elephant's eye" in Oklahoma, but in Hancock County you'd do well to find a stalk as high as an adult's knee. Local farmers have lost a lot this year - corn, hay, soybeans, wheat and oats - because of the abnormally heavy rains in the region (more than 100 inches in Hancock County since January 1, according to the latest Civil Defense report).

Back in Time

About 20 of those farmers from a four-county area (Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River and Stone) met Wednesday with representatives of Rep. Gene Taylor and Sen. Trent Lott, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, and Sen. Vic Frankiewicz to discuss the problems the farmers face with most of their planting season lost to rain.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

May 21, 1981 - A revolutionary new sewerage treatment system developed by the National Space Technology Laboratories' Earth Resources Laboratory is gaining the attention of Louisiana and Mississippi municipal leaders. The system is also designed to regenerate sewerage into food, air and potable water for future National Aeronautics and Space Administration space stations. Vascular plants are combined with anaerobic filters in this system to purify residential or industrial wastes.

Twenty years ago this might have been a castastrophe. At that time Kila was the "moonshine capital of the world." Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said with a smile Wednesday. The sheriff was referring to some 43,554 pounds of sugar believed to have been embezzled by the driver of an 18-wheel tractor trailer truck and disposed of between the Kiln and Louisiana line.

Sheriff's department investigators are currently looking for the truck driver, employed by a Hattiesburg firm, and the sugar. A warrant for the arrest of the truck driver was served at the sheriff's office Wednesday after company officials who signed an affidavit for their employee's arrest.

FORTY YEARS AGO

May 25, 1961 - Twelve men wearing swastika arm bands and described as American Nazis were escorted through Hancock County on Tuesday night by Sheriff Gerald Price and Chief of Detectives Ladnier Nècaise. The men were in a German-made bus and station wagon bearing signs reading "Lincoln Rockwell's Hate Bus. We hate Jewish Communists.

We hate race mixing."

Deputy Gerald Price, Jr., said the sheriff had received a call from authorities in Jackson saying the party was expected to arrive here in the evening. About 8:30 p.m. a Beach restaurant called to say that a Volkswagen bus and station wagon in which the men were riding had stopped and ordered food but they were refused. They tried another restaurant on U.S. 90 and were again refused. The party was then escorted to the Louisiana line.

- Nears completion. (Photo) Merchants Bank and Trust Company's new drive - in branch bank on Coleman Avenue, Waveland, is expected to be ready for opening early in June with preparations for surfacing the parking area in front of the bank now underway.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

May 25, 1961 - A constitution for the St. Joseph Academy Alumnae was adopted at the meeting held Sunday, May 20, in the Memorial Hall at 3 p.m. Miss Kathleen Renshaw, president, appointed chairmen for the various committees. Those appointed were: Mrs. Delta Jacobi, spiritual life; Mrs. Octave Delph, literature and education; Mrs. Milton A. Phillips, Jr., publicity; and Miss Clara Kergosien, hospitality. Sister Albertine was named moderator and Mrs. Irene Hille, parliamentarian.

SIXTY YEARS AGO

May 30, 1941 - Called back into service. Lieutenant Commander J. Briscoe Goldman, U.S.N. Ret., has been called back into service and will be stationed in New Orleans in offices at the Customs House, Mr. Goldman, of Bay St. Louis,

Freddy Fender returns to the Bay

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

It's been a while since fans have heard the classic tunes of Freddy Fender at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis. He returns to the Bay, Friday and Saturday, June 1 and 2, playing one show nightly at 9 p.m.

Tickets are $5 per show with a Magic Money Players Club Card. Tickets may be purchased through the Casino Magic Box Office by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or any Ticketmaster outlet.

Fender has had three successful careers already, as a Hispanic/pop star in the late 50's, a country/pop star in the 70's, and a member of the Grammy Award-winning Texas Tornados in the 90's.

With his signing to Arista/Texas, he begins a new chapter in an amazing career that spans nearly four decades.

Freddy Fender was born Baldemar Huerta in the Rio Grande Valley town of San Benito, Texas. He grew up in a barrio that, he is quick to point out, was not a crowded ghetto but just a poor Hispanic neighborhood.

In 1947, at the age of 10, he made his first appearance on radio, singing a current hit, "Paloma Querida," on KGBT in Harlingen, Texas.

Another performance of "Paloma Querida" (literally translated "dove" and "loved one") won him a tub of food worth about $10 — first prize in an amateur talent contest at the Grand Theater in Harlingen.

At the same time, Fender was getting a first-hand education in the blues. His parents were migrant workers and he traveled with them during the picking season.

At 16, he joined the Marines for a three-year hitch. After his discharge, he started playing Texas honky tonk and dance halls. Two of his first records, Spanish versions of Elvis' "Don't Be Cruel" and Harry Belafonte's "Jamaica Farewell" on Falcon Records went to Number One in Mexico and South America in 1957.

In 1959, Hollywood called him — not to act but to sign to Imperial Records, the label of such seats as Fats Domino.

In hopes of reaching the gringo audience, he changed his name, taking Fender from the headstock of his Electric guitar, and picking Freddy simply because it was alliterative.

In 1960, "Wasted Days and Wasted Nights" became a national hit; it also proved to be prophetic for Fender. Early stardom was stolen that year when he and his bass player were arrested and sent to prison for possession of two marijuana cigarettes.

Three years later, Fender surfaced in New Orleans, where he spent the next five years further developing his interests rhythm & blues and Cajun funk.

By 1969, Fender had returned home to "The Valley." He worked full time as a mechanic, enrolled at Del Mar College and played music only on weekends.

In 1974, he cut "Before The Next Teardrop Falls" in Houston. The master was bought by ABC-Dot, and on April 8, 1975, it reached the Number One spot on Billboard's pop and country charts, the first time in history an artist's first single reached Number One on both charts.

His remake of "Wasted Days and Wasted Nights," essentially the same arrangement that had been considered rock and roll the first time around, followed "Teardrop..." to Number One on the country charts.

His third release, "Secret Love," and fourth release "You'll Lose A Good Thing" also hit the top spot. The album went multi-platinum. Billboard named him "Best Male Artist of 1975," and he won both single and album-of-the-year honors from The Gavin Report.

In the 90's, Freddy Fender's role as vocalist/guitarist in the Tex-Mex supergroup, Texas Tornados has delivered the venerable performer to major marketplaces and audiences traditionally oriented toward roots rock and progressive blues music.

Wear a funny hat to SMH Cancer Survivor Day gala

National Cancer Survivors Day (NCSD) is a time set aside to recognize to nation's 8.9 million cancer survivors, to focus attention on the issues of survivorship and to acknowledge those professionals dedicated to cancer treatment, research and support services, according to the American Cancer Society.

In conjunction with the nationwide celebration, Slidell Memorial Hospital (SMH) is hosting "Cancer Survivor Day" from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday, June 2, in Rooms 1-4, Founders Medical Building on Robert Blvd. in Slidell.

Connie McKnight, R.N., M.N., of the SMH Cancer Center, is coordinating this event, presented free to the community as a public service of Slidell Memorial Hospital.

This year's national theme, "Hats off for a Cure," was created to bring public focus on this disease and the corresponding issues of survivorship. Guests to the June 2 event are requested to wear off-beat hats of any variety to the event.

Major advances in cancer prevention, detection and treatment often result in longer survival rates.

In turn, surviving can lead to a host of new concerns, physical and emotional.

Cancer survivors can live active, productive lives, even though they face many challenges in every-day living. National Cancer Survivor Day focuses on those challenges by providing education, information and community resources.

The public is invited to attend the afternoon of music, food, games and information.

For further information, or to make reservations for this community event, call (985) 639-8909 or 1-800-259-2200, extension 8909. Although there is no charge for the event, space is limited, and reservations are recommended.

fulgida. The Goldstrum variety was the Louisiana Select Plant of the Year and a U.S. Perennial Plant of the Year.

The flowers are nearly as large as Indian Summer, but they bloom from May until the first hard frost and then return in the spring. The leaves are fairly large, oval and dark green. Keep well watered during droughts, and remove dead flower heads for maximum bloom. Most years, gardeners are rewarded with more flower stalks being produced in late summer or early fall.

I occasionally run across a gardener who thinks these are too aggressive and vigorous, but I feel passionately that these are among the best plants for any gardener - beginner or expert.

Rudbeckia fulgida are great planted along sunny borders. I have combined them with the Biloxi Blue and the violet Tapien verbenas. They also work well with asters, goldenrods, homestead purple verbenas, and liatris or gay feather.

The Rudbeckia triloba is another outstanding species for Mississippi. This is a Georgia Gold Medal winner, and it could qualify here as well. It is a prolific blooming perennial that is sometimes treated as an annual.

It has an abundance of yellow flowers with button-shaped black centers produced at the ends of many-branched stems. It is very erect, growing about 3 feet tall, spreading and bushy.

The leaves are dark green and divided into three oval parts, hence the name triloba.

Rudbeckia triloba originated on the prairies of the United States. Plant in full sun in organic-rich beds. Promptly cut back flowers just as the bloom finishes to extend the plant's life, or let the seeds ripen and collect them.

Plant in the middle of the border with cosmos, zinnias or the new Angelist angelonias called Summer Snapdragons.

Be bold and create large drifts of color.

If you would like a Rudbeckia with a green eye, look no farther than Irish Eyes. This plant has a green cone and single flowers opening 4 to 5 inches across. With its foliage reaching about 30 inches tall, Irish Eyes are striking and unusual. They are grown as an annual or short-lived perennial.

If conditioned, black-eyed Susans are great cut flowers with a long vase life. The secret is to place a cardboard sheet on top of a deep pan containing 100 to 110 degree water. Cut holes in the cardboard to allow the stems to be placed through it and into the water. When the petals are flat and the stem straight, it is ready for the vase.

We can learn a lot from the roadside, especially when it comes to tough, beautiful flowers. Once we have learned this lesson, the next step is to take a trip to the garden center to get our own flowers.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Norman Winter is a horticulturist with Mississippi State University's Extension Service. His office is located at the Central Mississippi Research and Extension Center at 1320 Seven Springs Road, Raymond, MS 39154.

SSC students score in TIP top percent

Brad Reinhart, Saint Stanislaus seventh grader, has scored in the top 2% of students from throughout the country who participated in the Duke University Talent Identification Program (TIP), according to Brother Ronald Hingle, SC, SSC principal.

Because of his high scores on the 2000-2001 ACT - the same assessment taken by college-bound high school juniors and seniors - Brad has been invited to the Grand Recognition Ceremony at Duke University, Durham, N.C.

Brad is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Reinhart of Diamondhead. At the ceremony, Brad will receive a gold medalion to signify his accomplishments.

Five additional Saint Stanislaus seventh graders achieved scores on either the ACT or the SAT which were high enough to entitle them to a State Recognition Ceremony which will be at the University of Southern Mississippi, Hattiesburg, on June 2.

These students are Austin Gaffney, Cole Larsen, Andrew Parker, Matthew Planchard, and Thomas Wallace.

Austin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Gaffney of Baton Rouge. Cole is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery Larsen of Kiln. Andrew is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Parker of Gulfport. Matthew is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Planchard of Pass Christian, and Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wallace, Jr., of Pass Christian.

Cannon, LaFontaine, Santiago go to PRCC

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Pearl River Community College Wildcats completed a trifecta at St. Stanislaus College Tuesday morning. Punter/Placekicker Taylor LaFontaine, running back Kris Cannon, and quarterback/safety Jason Santiago all signed with the Wildcats.

SSC principal Brother Ronald Hingle, S.C. said, "These three young men represent the finest of the SSC football tradition. We are very proud of their accomplishments at SSC. We look forward to seeing them compete together at Pearl River Community College."

LaFontaine, the son of Ronnie and Elaine LaFontaine of Bay St. Louis, has been a punter/placekicker for the Rocks for the past three seasons. In 2000 LaFontaine was named to the All-Sea Coast Echo first-team and the All-Division team. He averaged 30 yards/punt on 35 kicks. LaFontaine connected on three-of-five field goal attempts and was 25-for-29 PATs. In 1998, LaFontaine kicked the winning 27-yard field goal in overtime to give the Rocks the victory over Bay High and thrust SSC into their first playoff appearance in seven seasons.

Cannon, the son of Theresa Cannon, has virtually all of the rushing records at SSC. In 2000 Cannon rushed for 1,187 yards on 179 carries for an average of 6.63 yards/carry. He added 210 yards receiving and 210 yards in kickoff returns to his totals for 2000. Cannon averaged 179 all-purpose yards/game during his senior campaign. In 2000, he was named to the All-Sea Coast Echo first-team, the All-

Division 7 Class 4A first team.

Cannon's career rushing total is 4,290 yards on 645 carries for a 6.65 average. He also totaled 5,756 all-purpose yards in his four-year campaign with the Rocks. Cannon is the school's record holder in rushing yards per game, season, and career. He also holds the record for most carries in a game, season, and career, career touchdowns, and total yards in a game, season, and career.

Santiago, the son of Esther Santiago, is also a four-year starter for the Rocks and is the all-time leading passer in school history. The 2000 All-Sea Coast Echo first-team performer passed for 1,635 yards during his senior season breaking his old record from 1999. He is one of only four Coast passers to throw for more than 4,000 yards in his high school career. Santiago's four-year totals are 4,708 yards. He is the career leader for most yards in a game, season, and career, completions, attempts, touchdown passes, and longest pass completion.

In 2000 Santiago was named to the All-Division 7 Class 4A team and the All-Coast team.

SSC head coach Dave Kenson commented, "This is a really good opportunity for these three players to continue their football careers and get a solid education. Pearl River Community College is getting three very fine young men who will give their all. PRCC is a good fit for these players on the football field because their offensive schemes are very similar to what we run here at SSC."

National Fishing and Boating Week is June 1-10

National Boating and Fishing Week is June 1 through June 10. This is the perfect time to celebrate Mississippi's bountiful waters and its fisheries resources, as well as relax.

According to Clarke Reed, Chairman of the Mississippi Fish and Wildlife Foundation, "The Foundation is pleased to be a part of this worthwhile effort to reconnect families in the communities throughout Mississippi through fishing and boating."

Recreational boating is one of the most popular forms of family recreation. According to the National Marine Manufacturers Association, more than 72 million Americans participated in recreational boating in 2000. Almost 17 million boats were used in 2000.

It is estimated that more than half a million boats were sold in 2000. Over $25 billion was spent at retail outlets during 2000 for new and used boats, motors and engines, trailers, accessories and other associated costs. Over 41% of fiberglass and aluminum fishing boat owners are adults with children 18 years old and younger.

Fishing is one of America's favorite outdoor recreational pastimes. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service states that of the U.S. population, ages 16 and older, over 35 million go fishing. This represents 17 percent of the population. In addition, there are almost 15 million youth anglers.

Recreational anglers, ages 16 and older, spend over $37 billion a year to fish. This has tremendous economic impacts: $108.4 billion in industry output; $28.2 billion in salaries and wages; $5.4 billion in income and sales taxes; and 1.2 million jobs.

Recreational anglers, ages 16 and older, spend 625 million days fishing on 507 million trips a year. Of the days spent fishing, 82 percent are in freshwater and 17 percent are in saltwater. The average angler, age 16 and older, spends $1,072 to fish in a year's time.

Over a year, the average angler 16 years and older spends $151 for fishing tackle and other equipment; $436 for trip-related goods and services; and $106 for transportation. Freshwater fishing expenditures by anglers, 16 years and older, are estimated at $26.9 billion, and saltwater fishing expenditures estimated $8.7 billion.

During National Fishing and Boating Week, I encourage you to carry your son, daughter, niece, nephew or other young person fishing. Besides the economic impact that will accrue to Mississippi and our nation, the values it will instill will last a lifetime.

And finally, a conservation message by Forrest Gump, "When you go fishing, never keep the little fish. You won't eat them, and the big fish will."

James L. Cummins is executive director of the Mississippi Fish and Wildlife Foundation in Stoneville, Mississippi.

Known as "Wildlife Mississippi," the Foundation is a non-profit, conservation organization founded to conserve, restore and enhance fish, wildlife and plant resources throughout Mississippi.

Fire Dogs shoot down Seagulls 52-28

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Mississippi Fire Dogs stormed back from an early 14-0 deficit to John Fourcade and the Mobile Seagulls for a 52-28 win before 2,700 fans in the Dog House. The victory gives the Fire Dogs a record of 6-1.

On the night that the 2000 IPFL championship banner was lifted to the rafters and rings were presented, head coach Irvin Favre called the victory a huge team win. Favre stated, "The first quarter we were very sluggish. In the second, third, and fourth quarters, we came together. Defensively, we knew we had to control the game and the team stepped it up. This was a big game for both teams."

As the Fire Dogs came from behind to shoot down the Seagulls, the game was not without its drama. Throughout the game, there was a total of 11 ejections. In the second quarter, there was a bench clearing brawl in the endzone in which the Fire Dogs lost three offensive starters. The ejections throughout the game caused concern on both sides of the ball for both teams.

On the first play from scrimmage, the Seagulls got on the scoreboard when quarterback John Fourcade threw a 47-yard scoring pass. Brad Rhodes' PAT was good to make the score 7-0. Mobile added another score on their second possession with a Fourcade 23-yard scoring pass. Rhodes converted to make the PAT and the score was 14-0.

With 7:28 left in the opening quarter, Tyrone Ashley plunged in from two yards out to put Mississippi on the board. Tim Hardaway added the PAT and the score was cut in half 14-7.

Fourcade marched his troops down the field on their next possession and dove across from one yard out for the score. Rhodes made good on the PAT and the score was 21-7.

Ashley brought the Fire Dogs down to the Mobile four yard line. Derrick Taite connected with Kenny Causey for a four-yard score with 14:56 left in the first half. Hardaway nailed the PAT and the score was 21-14.

It didn't take long for the Fire Dogs to get going on defense. Mississippi held firm and forced Mobile to take a long field goal attempt that fell short. Two plays into the Fire Dogs next drive, Taite hit a streaking Kevin Heard for a 35-yard scoring pass. Hardaway nailed the PAT to tie the score at 21-21.

With 6:03 left in the first half, Ashley put the Fire Dogs ahead for good with a 25-yard from scrimmage for the score. Hardaway's PAT was good making the score 28-21.

After halftime, a different attitude emerged from the Fire Dogs. It was one that allowed Mobile to score just once more in the game. It wasn't until late in the final quarter that Mobile put up their final points of the game. Fourcade threw a six-yard scoring pass with :38 left in the game. Rhodes PAT was good.

Mississippi started the second half where it ended the first half - scoring. Taite hit Dexter Thomas for a 32-yard scoring pass with 13:08 left in the third quarter. Hardaway connected on the PAT making the score 35-21.

On their next possession, Taite found Heard for a four-yard score with 6:04 remaining in the third period. Hardaway remained perfect on the PATs and the score was 42-21.

With 1:40 remaining in the third period, Hardaway nailed a 23-yard field goal to put the Fire Dogs up 45-21. Finally, with 14:56 left in the game Ashley scored his third touchdown of the night from one-yard out. Hardaway made good on the PAT as the Fire Dogs finished this on running away.

Offensive coordinator Stu Rayborn commented, "We felt in the locker room that we were sluggish today. But, our defense settled down after their first two quick scores and gave the offense the opportunities that it needed. Mobile played the defense that we thought they would play. Tyrone Ashley made some great runs and Derrick Taite made some awesome throws. We worked very hard for the win tonight and we feel good with it. Next week's game is just as big as this one was. We have to travel to Lake Charles and we know what we have to do. It will be a huge game."

The Fire Dogs have to travel to Lake Charles on June 2 to take on the only team that has defeated the Fire Dogs this season. The last time these two teams locked horns in battle, the Land Sharks won easily 63-

31. The next home game for the Fire Dogs will be June 11 in the Mississippi Coast Coliseum against the River City Locomotives out of Huntington, West Virginia. For more information on tickets, please call the Fire Dog office at 228-388-1876.

RESTAURANT REVIEW

Presenting some of the Finest Restaurants on the Mississippi Gulf Coast

Neil Favre
Southern Delights Owner

Southern Delights, owned and operated by Neil Favre, is truly a treat for your taste buds. Favre opened the restaurant only two months ago and already has a loyal following and an excellent reputation for providing really delicious food at reasonable prices.

Every dish is freshly prepared to order and the portions are more than generous. Take for example the crab stuffed mushroom appetizer, you will receive six of these for only $5.95. Be sure to try the spinach-artichoke dip, served hot with chips for only $4.95. Seafood gumbo, some of the best I've ever had, is available daily as well as a soup of the day.

If you are trying to eat light, order one of Southern Delights fantastic salads. Boiled shrimp salad, grilled or fried shrimp salad, or the grilled, fried or blackened chicken salad are all excellent choices.

Southern Delights also grills steaks! Choose a 6 oz. or 12 oz. ribeye prepared to perfection served with choice of potato served with vegetable and salad for a reasonable $8.95 for the 6 oz. and only $12.95 for the 12 oz.

RESTAURANT OWNERS

If you would like to have your restaurant reviewed by The Sea Coast Echo, call Cecilia or Suzette at 467-5474 for details.

Southern Delights has some of the most delicious specialty dishes such as the snapper, the grilled tuna or the stuffed crab platter. The fried seafood plates are generous, especially the Seafood Platter. It consists of catfish, shrimp, oysters, frog legs, delicately fried to a golden brown served with Favre's famous stuffed crab, delicious! Of course Southern Delights serves all of your favorite traditional po-boys and sandwiches, and some not so traditional like the portabella mushroom sandwich. (You just have to try it, it's really good!) Favre selects a lunch and a dinner special which changes daily except on Mondays, that's red beans and rice day, of course.

Lunch is served Monday through Saturday and dinner is served Wednesday through Saturday. Make plans to bring the family to the newly renovated Southern Delights at 299B Hwy 90, corner of Dunbar and Hwy 90 in Bay St. Louis. You'll be glad you did!
